to the Users of ETHYL GAS

CHOOSING the brand of Ethyl gasoline is just as important to Ethyl users as is the selection of the right fuel by other motorists.

For adding Ethyl fluid to any gasoline merely "knocks out the knock" —the quality of the gas is not changed.

The New White Rose Ethyl is the first Ethylized fuel of White Rose quality—a quality valued by the huge army of drivers who, since the earliest days of motoring, have gladly paid a premium for it.

Yet the New White Rose Ethyl costs no more than other Ethyl gasolines.

The extra value, the easier starting, the power and pep, the smoothness, the purity of White Rose costs you nothing.

If you are using Ethyl gas, you are paying for White Rose Quality. Get it—at the sign of the Boy and Slate. Drive into a White Rose station and fill up at the red pump. You'll know you're getting the best Ethyl—the New White Rose Ethyl.

From the day this business was established, fifty-one years ago, quality has been the first consideration of every Richman executive . . . quality is uppermost in the mind of every Richman employe.

When you see the new spring suits and topcoats now offered for your selection, you will be impressed with the fact that they were "tailored up to a standard . . . not down to a price." Costly clothes can give you no better style and fit . . . their rich fabrics and beautifully finished tailoring are seldom matched at less than $50.

The price is low only because Richman's 55 store direct-from-factory sales volume gives you the benefit of many economies, added to the saving of the middleman's profit.

Everyone connected with Richman Brothers, from porters to president, is paying out of salary for the fourth subscription to the company's stock at $50 a share . . the same stock that is listed on the stock exchange at $90 . . . just one of the reasons for the remarkable quality and value of the clothes we make.

Not Amount That Counts

THIS is the story of a deed of kindness and charity in which the identity of the person performing the act is not revealed because [illegible] would not want it advertised under any consideration.

The incident happened at one of Marion's grocery stores recently. A friend of the grocer who had been out of work for a long period and whose home was virtually destitute of food as a result, had called to ask for a supply of provisions on credit.

The grocer was far from being hard-hearted but he had to draw the line. His finances were such that he was unable to carry accounts over an indefinite period.

"See that man standing out in front?" the merchant remarked to a young woman who happened to be in the store at the time. "He wants to run a charge account and as much as I hate to do it, I'll have to turn him down."

Then he told of the desperate situation of the man and his family and explained his own inability to extend credit even under such exceptional circumstances.

The young woman walked nearer the jobless man so that she could get a clearer view of his face, wan and lined from care and worry.

Then she returned to the grocer and handed him a $5 bill.

"Make this go as far as you can and don't tell him where it came from," she requested. "That man's face would haunt me if I didn't do something for him and his family."

Not a particularly notable bit of philanthropy as far as the amount of money is concerned, but it is altogether probable that it will be recorded somewhere at least on par with some gifts of millions made for art museums and [illegible] or institutions.

The Stars Say—
For Thursday, May 1

MOST propitious circumstances are indicated by the lunar as well as mutual aspects bearing rule on this day. There may be excellent opportunity for important change in environment, employment and in commercial contacts, with the promise of advancement, financial success and fulfilled ambitions. It is a time for pushing toward high goals, but be careful as to personal expenses and do not squander or jeopardize the funds.

Those whose birthday it is are assured a year of excellent prospects, with new openings for advancement and honored position, with financial increase and personal popularity. It is a time for pushing toward desired ends, but be on guard against subtle undermining and treachery in the private relations.

A child born on this day should be talented, ingenious and ambitious, should attain high position in desired channels, but it may be subject to private intrigues and betrayals.

TWO PERSONS HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

William Haley Escapes Injury When Cars Collide East of Claridon School.

William Haley, 20, Edison pk., escaped injuries in an automobile accident about 8:30 o'clock this morning near Claridon, which resulted in sending Mrs. Delos Bachelder and her daughter, northeast of Mt. Gilead, to Mansfield General hospital with injuries which are not regarded as serious.

There were four people in the Bachelder car, a Dodge sedan, according to one report. The sedan, going north, and the Haley car, going west, collided at a road just east of the Claridon school house. Mr. Bachelder, the driver, escaped injury. His wife and child were taken to the hospital in a Craven ambulance.

The impact turned over the Dodge and broke one wheel on the Buick. Mrs. Bachelder and her daughter were taken to the Mansfield hospital. Haley returned to his home near Marion.

M'NAIR TALKS ON PITTSBURGH PLAN

Kiwanians Hear Explanation of Tax System at Weekly Luncheon Today.

The Pittsburgh plan of taxation was explained to Marion Kiwanians by William N. McNair, [illegible] tax [illegible] attorney [illegible] Pittsburgh, at the club luncheon in the Marion club this noon.

The unusual feature of the Pittsburgh plan appears to be the concentration of tax on land and removal of taxes from household goods, inventories of business places and factory machinery, etc.

In fact, land is taxed at twice the rate assessed buildings in that city.

The three advantages of such a system according to Mr. McNair is encouraging of building on vacant lots in cities, discontinuing of holding land idle or "land speculation," and increased purchasing power given to taxpayers by removing cumbersome taxes from incomes, dwellings and goods purchased.

Mrs. Blanche Ward, of the state department of motor vehicles, explained what her department was fostering in Ohio in the way of a safety campaign to reduce the number of automobile accidents, especially to children. She said Ohio ranked [illegible] among states in the number of automobiles registered, there being close to 2,000,000 in Ohio now.

Don't fool yourself!

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Why she didn't want to kiss him

Halitosis (unpleasant breath) has broken up many a love affair and friendship.

Don't fool yourself that you never have it. Because you simply cannot be sure of that. Halitosis never announces itself to the victim. But it does to others—and offends them.

Therefore, before meeting others, rinse the mouth with full strength Listerine. If halitosis is present, it destroys it. If it isn't (and you cannot tell) your mouth receives the benefit of a refreshing and invigorating treatment.

Listerine overcomes halitosis because it is an active antiseptic and germicide which kills germs of all kinds in 15 seconds. Therefore, it checks food fermentation and infection—both a cause of odors. Then, being a powerful deodorant, it gets rid of the odors themselves.

Keep a bottle of Listerine handy in home and office. Use it often. It pays. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Denver's Startling Divorce Record.

The extent to which the divorce evil has grown in the city of Denver has been brought to public attention by the report of a committee, named to make a survey of the situation, to the Colorado Congregational conference which shows that during the first ten weeks of the present year the number of divorces in the Colorado capital exceeded the number of marriages by seventy. The figures were 501 divorces and 431 marriages. In addition to the 501 divorce decrees granted, 325 petitions for divorce were filed during the same ten-week period, thus making a total of 826 divorce proceedings end[illegible] in ten weeks as compared with 431 marriages solemnized.

The committee suggested a number of changes in the divorce laws of the state, among them being that an interval of five days shall elapse between the application and the issuing of a marriage license, that both parties shall apply for the license in person, that each party shall furnish a [illegible] health signed by a competent physician, [illegible] recognition of common law marriages [illegible] be abolished and that application [illegible] shall be published in the county [illegible].

No doubt the changes [illegible] work to decrease the divorce evil [illegible] community in which the idea of com[illegible] panionate marriage had its inception [illegible] openly championed by a former domestic relations judge of the city, but the [illegible] approach its obliteration [illegible] in a city in which divorce proceedings [illegible] period of two and a half months [illegible] to a thousand and are practically [illegible] number of marriages [illegible] divorce is strongly [illegible] mind. As this newspaper has previously taken occasion to remark, Child Health day was not set apart so much for the education of children as for the education of parents, guardians and others to whom the care of children may be committed, but our presentation of the purpose of the day was hardly such as to justify the overlooking of opportunity to present the foregoing presentation by Mr. Hoover in which he speaks not only as the president of a great nation and head of the American Child Health association, but also as a father.

New York City's commissioner of correction states that the number of women criminals in that city has more than doubled in the last ten years. Even at that they have hardly kept pace with the increase in the male element of the criminal world, either in New York or any other large city of the country.

Council Found the Way.

Having arranged for the addition of four men to its force of firefighters September 1, the city has met the condition stipulated by the Ohio Inspection bureau to assure it a class four fire rating for the ensuing five years—as high a rating as is possible of attainment by the city.

The natural inclination will be to commend council for finding ways and means by which to meet the increase in the city payroll to result from the addition of the four firemen and thus saving our industrial and commercial interests the extra $15,000 or $20,000 they would have had to pay annually in the way of premiums under the present class of rating, but we have a feeling that the greater gain to be reaped, and certainly the greater general benefit, will be the added protection to the community as a whole the addition of the new men to our undermanned department will afford.

How the council found a way to meet the condition has been fully set out in our news columns. There is no occasion for going into it herein. The matter for congratulation in this regard is that it did find the way, and we feel that it has, and deserves, the approval of the community for finding the way and taking the action it has.

The Right Rev. H. P. Abbott, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Lexington, Kentucky, has resigned, because he considers the verdict in the ecclesiastical trial of Rev. Julius A. Editorial Opinion.

TAKE PRECAUTION NOW.

[illegible] on the witness stand [illegible] system could have met the emergency of the appalling tragedy at the state prison. This, perhaps, is quite true. But it also equally is true that the state can not escape responsibility for the terrible affair, because it permitted unsafe fire conditions to exist in an obsolete prison in which were crowded 4,300 men into cell blocks built for 1,500.

In this connection, the New York Times points out: "In 1922 the census bureau estimated the total wealth of Ohio as $18,[illegible]. Its annual budget is $40,[illegible],182, and its net debt is but $10,080,000. It has a very small funded debt—$12,500,000—which was incurred for the purpose of paying a soldiers' bonus. Perhaps that was good politics, and very few concern themselves with the conditions of men in prison. But if the great and financially prosperous state of Ohio, with a population of over 6,000,000, has added to its funded debt the few more millions necessary to safeguard the inmates at Columbus it would not be making such heart-breaking news today."

Similar comment characterizes the press observations throughout the country.

Ohio is known as the nation's fourth state. The recent tragedy at Columbus has stained its good name. A repetition of such ghastly calamity would justly add to a reproachful condition. There are other state institutions remaining endangered by fire hazard, overcrowded institutions with meager safeguarding equipment. Prompt precaution at once should be taken for the protection of the thousands of lives in these institutions. The risks from fire must be foreseen and provided against.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"WHO'S HOODLUM IN CHICAGO."

In a land where the libel laws are still on the books, the Chicago crime commission has selected twenty-eight men for listing under the caption "Who's Hoodlum in Chicago" and has branded them as "public enemies," who "should be treated accordingly." Yet the action of the crime commission, taken against citizens presumably innocent under the law, will be accepted as merely another interesting if unimportant development in a city that recently gave to the world the news that its leading gangsters, following the industrial trend, had decided upon a merger in the interest of peace, bigger and better crime and vice.

No one suspects that "Scarface Al" Capone, "Bugs" Moran, "Polack Joe" Saltis, Terry Druggan or Joe Aiello, solid citizens in this land of the free and the brave, will resent the publication of their names, virtually listing them as outlaws with a price upon their heads, to the extent of going to court and asking that something be done about it. To them the crime commission is merely another "racket" in a world of rackets. They probably ask, "Well, what of it?" And so do we all.

"Who's hoodlum" in Chicago has been known as well and so long that the crime commission's confirmation of the candidates becomes a picturesque but futile gesture unless it is to be followed up with unceasing barrages of publicity that note the comings and goings of the members and the activities of their clans, with a sharp contrast developed against a background of inactivity and [illegible] on the part of the people and the law. If the crime commission can make goldfish of these fellows by putting them in an aquarium of publicity, something may be done after all.—Washington Star.

STRANGE THINGS DO HAPPEN.

So many things strange and new occur in this city nowadays, that perhaps a person ought not to be surprised at anything that happens. Yet we do confess to a lack of comprehension of the system which permits persons conducting a police [illegible] material and apparatus seized from [illegible] breweries and [illegible] so that they can be bought by the operators of such places at prices considerably lower than those asked [illegible] market.

Value of a Balanced Diet.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

We are living today in an age of great activity. It is necessary that we have the proper food to keep the body in good condition. We must have it to enable our hearts and muscles to do their work.

One hears much about a balanced diet. How many are there who know what this means? Even if they do realize its importance, there are too many, either deliberately or without intent, who go merrily on their way. They eat wrongly and in consequence suffer the penalties of broken health.

Every housewife must feel the responsibility of choosing the right food to keep her family physically fit. There are certain simple rules to follow. It requires the application of a little intelligence, of course, but it will pay in the long run to put thought and care into the selection of the right things to eat.

The important foods which produce energy and repair body waste are divided into three general classes—proteins, carbohydrates and fats. A balanced diet calls for these food elements in the following proportions:

One part of protein made up of the flesh foods, like meats, eggs and the dairy products. These are for building and repairing the muscles and framework of the body.

Three parts of fats, such as are found in butter, cream, oils and cooking fats, oily nuts and fat meats. These furnish energy and round out the body. They give flexibility to the joints and the muscles.

Six parts of carbohydrates, made up of sugars and starches, such as potatoes, cereals, breads, sugars and other sweets. These furnish heat and energy.

There are other foods, also, that are needed to provide the mineral salts. These elements go to make the teeth, bones and other tissues of the body. The foods must contain roughage and a sufficient vitamin content to protect the body from disease.

Meals are not necessarily well balanced even when they contain one of each class of foods, for much depends upon the proportions used. Do not use too many similar foods; variety should be the rule.

If you have meat for dinner, you should not include a dessert made up of milk and eggs. If you do, you will be supplying more protein than is necessary. If the meal includes no meat, but bread, butter and vegetables, then you will have a balanced meal by including a custard or rice pudding made mostly of milk.

As long as you strike a good weekly average of all classes of foods necessary to maintain health, you will be keeping on the safe side. That is, if you lack at one meal a part of the balanced diet, it can be made up at the next meal.—Copyright, 1930, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, May 1—The [illegible], Richard A. Canfield has [illegible] a [illegible] [illegible] full length volume of his [illegible] [illegible] gambler of all time, epitomizing the villainies of the [illegible] and the [illegible] of the [illegible]

Canfield to a later generation is best known, and remembered through the card game bearing his name. It is a touch of the ironical [illegible] a gambling game in the [illegible] that Canfield never played. [illegible] Canfield operated in New York, Saratoga and Newport.

His most famous establishment, however, was in a fine brownstone front at what was then a select Forty-fourth street, a few steps off the avenue and next to old Delmonico's. His clients included only the creme de la creme of the [illegible] of that epoch. Yet many proved welchers.

One [illegible] I. O. U. for $127,000 was given by a prominent man alive today. Play began at 11 o'clock when patrons in full evening dress and high hats arrived in hansom cabs. Canfield [illegible] a [illegible] supper with vintage wines and especially made cigars, free.

No outsider entered the gaming-room. It was frequent raids inspired by the firebrand Jerome that eventually closed the gaming house. Canfield died after a fall in a subway, in 1914, which fractured his skull. He left about a million, having lost many millions in stock market manipulations.

Most of these men gambled high, but it was only an incident in their lives. They loved the excitement and could afford to lose. The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Clarence Darrow, public debater, says man is only a machine which unwinds itself. This machine acts in accordance with the stimulus which it keeps receiving from nature. Man, says Darrow, has no free will. He does what he does simply because he is a machine, over which he has no real control. Not many people, even scholars and scientists, believe that. Some people do as well as they can and some do not. Right there lies the fundamental difference between people, who are really not much alike after all. You can not analyze yourself or anybody else very carefully without discovering there is such a thing as free will.

Strange how we resist truth. Truth is the thing we ought most to seek. And yet it is the thing we most avoid. We do not wish to hear truth. We wish to hear what pleases us, what tickles our vanity, what adds to our self-esteem. Whether we deserve praise makes little difference. We are just as much pleased to hear things that we do not merit as to hear things we do. Man is really incurably vain.

Many men—including many successful ones—admit they act on impulse. They make snap judgments. If they are right fifty-five per cent of the time they are proud they can act so well and so fast. But it's a bad policy. It's dangerous to trust to impulse. Occasionally our first impulses, when we are confronted with a new situation, are correct. [illegible] they are not. Mother Jones is truly feminine however in not wanting her picture taken now because she is old and ugly. But championship of the laborer rose even above that whim.

While the work of repairing the idle house is going on the unruly prisoners will be kept in temporary quarters. Approximately 600 have been transferred to a barbed wire stockade in the prison recreation grounds while the remainder numbering about 700 have been either placed in a warehouse recently converted into a dormitory or taken to other state prisons.

After the idle house had been emptied last night guard officers inspected the place and found among other things the beginning of a hole leading toward the residence of Warden Preston E. Thomas whose removal the convicts demanded after the death [illegible] men in the fire. The [illegible] together with a ba[illegible] [illegible] The diggers had cut through six inches of concrete.

Officials Keep Busy

While [illegible] and National Guardsmen were proceeding with their efforts to restore [illegible] state officials continued plans for re[illegible] [illegible] prisoners and a number of improvements [illegible] reduce the population of the penitentiary.

Two hundred men will be taken to the Mansfield reformatory [illegible] to State Welfare Director H. H. Griswold. These will be in addition to the 150 whose transfer previously had been ordered.

A program [illegible] the penitentiary was outlined by Griswold in a letter to Governor Myers Y. Cooper. First he suggested construction of a cell block in the building now housing a dormitory west of the warden's residence could be expedited by the employment of outside workmen although the cost would increase by about $30,000 or $40,000.

The prison labor force could then be concentrated on the three units of the industrial building now under construction [illegible] development of a new prison [illegible] at Grafton was seen in Griswold's statement that [illegible] made at the present farm there for the housing of 1,000 additional prisoners. Funds are available to carry out this plan State Finance Director Harry D. Silver said.

The state board [illegible] has appropriated $100,000 for improvements and fireproofing at the penitentiary but an additional appropriation will be needed if the new cell block is built by contract it was said.

In his letter to the governor Griswold said that his program would create within 90 days a capacity of [illegible] in modern sanitary and well ventilated cells. Construction of the new cell block [illegible] would require about eight months. [illegible] he added the penitentiary capacity in modern cells would be [illegible] In addition he said 150 men would be quartered in the honor dormitory and hospital.

Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth wife of the speaker sat beside Mrs. McCormick.

Senator Dill Democrat Washington asked Mrs. McCormick about her reference to the use of patronage in the campaign and inquired if she did not have some patronage of her own.

Smiling Mrs. McCormick replied that as a member of the house she had none.

"How about postmasterships?" asked Senator Dill.

"None," she replied with a chuckle.

Senator Deneen named Roy O. West, of Chicago, former secretary of the interior as his campaign manager and attributed his campaign expense account to Mr. West's preparation. He said the expenditures included everything from the time he filed as a candidate.

Mrs. McCormick said her expenses from the time of her filing date amounted to $204,000.

Mothers Corns Are All Gone

Here's what an English girl wrote to the makers of Radox—the greatest [illegible] foot treatments the world has ever known.

Millions of mothers in America have corns and hot, sore and callouses as well as tired burning aching feet.

These foot troubles will all go in a week if you will use Radox faithfully for a few nights in succession as directed.

You can get Radox at any real drugstore in America. Bradley's Drug Store sells dozens of packages a day—get a package; follow directions and if Radox doesn't do as advertised get your money back.

What English Girl Wrote

"Mother suffered for years with very bad corns but now after using Radox, has not got a corn, or any sign of a corn at all. She used three tablespoonfuls of Radox in two quarts of hot water (not boiling) so that she could put her feet in with comfort, and soaked the feet for half-an-hour, adding more hot water as the other got a bit cold; after which she found she could pick off pieces of corn quite easily. Now they are gone."

(Miss) G., London, England, 6th Nov., 1929.—Adv.

DRAMATIC STORY OF ACTION, ROMANCE AND ADVENTURE

—BY RICHARD STARR—

(Copyright 1930, by the Author)

[illegible] He [illegible] Teddy [illegible] people [illegible]

[illegible] the [illegible] Mr. Carew gave [illegible] Carew [illegible] number of [illegible]

[illegible] continued, [illegible] thinking [illegible] Mr. Carew, I [illegible] Montrose." [illegible] red Carew. [illegible] to tell you." [illegible] a rather pri- [illegible] me the favor [illegible] where things [illegible] I assure you it as something to your advantage."

This was something Carew could not understand but he followed Teddy into the small railed garden which belonged exclusively to the Majestic and the other establishments that formed the square.

It was dark and foggy and Mr. Carew was growing anxious.

"What is it you have to tell me?" he asked.

He was wearing a violet tie. Teddy tapped him on the chest with a bony knuckle.

"I don't care for your tie, Mr. Carew. I don't like it."

Carew was far from a fool, and he was now beginning to see what was the matter.

"You are at liberty to dislike it," he returned, stiffly.

"I don't like it," said Teddy urbanely. "It offends my artistic soul. Get rid of it, Mr. Carew. Throw it away. It is a disgraceful thing, and ought not to be allowed."

"Get out of my way, you mad fool!" cried Carew, and tried to sweep Teddy out of his path, but found him immovable.

"Not until you have treated that tie," said Teddy, "as it ought to be treated. Allow me."

Teddy seized the tie, tore it off, and threw it away.

Carew was no weakling. He rushed at Teddy wildly. Teddy stopped him with a scientific poke, and then stretched him on the grass with another which had more freedom of action about it.

Enraged, Carew struggled up, and Teddy stood back smiling until he was on his feet again. Then he rushed once more and Teddy delivered another wallop and Mr. Carew again assumed an undignified position.

After Teddy had dealt with him for the third time, by the same simple means, Mr. Carew did not get up.

"I've had enough," he mumbled. "What do you want with me? What's the quarrel? I haven't done a thing to you."

"I think you will agree," said Teddy, who was too much of a gentleman to mention Jacqueline, "that your tie is, or was, a most objectionable tie."

"Yes, I agree, as you seem to want me to."

"And that the world is full of a number of things?"

"Yes, if you like, though I don't know what you are talking about."

"Then I wish you good evening," said Teddy, and strolled away.

Meanwhile, in the Majestic hotel, Jacqueline was wrestling with panic and despair.

To Jacqueline the future seemed black and tragic, with not a glimmer of hope. She had quite made up her mind that when Teddy learned she was nothing but a penniless little cheat, playing the wealthy lady, his love would immediately change to contempt and bitterness.

That she could not bear to see, so she resolved that she would not stay to see it.

She wrote a letter and left it at the inquiry office, to be handed to Teddy when he called the next day.

This is what she wrote:

"Dear Teddy:

"I don't know how to write this. It is the most dreadful letter I have ever had to write. But it must be done. I can't go away without telling you what a wicked girl I have been. Oh, I think my heart is all broken up.

"I am going away and you will never see me again. You see, Teddy, I have been deceiving you all the time. Not when I said that I love you. That is the truest thing there is in me. But you will not want my love now.

"You see, I am not what you thought. I am not a lady. I am not even rich. I am going away from here tonight with only a few pounds of my own in the world. I am just a poor little shop girl. Until a few weeks ago I worked for my living, and worked very hard and very long. I was employed in a dressmaking establishment as a model.

"Then somebody left me 300 pounds, and instead of putting it in the bank, I made up my mind to spend it and have a gay old time.

"And that is how I met you, Teddy. I left my job and bought nice clothes and things and went to stay at the Majestic. I did not mean to deceive anybody. I just wanted to see what it was like to be rich for a little while. I did not do all this just with the idea of getting a rich husband, as you might be tempted to think. I never thought about getting a husband. I did not want one. If only I could think that you believe that, I could be almost happy again.

"I am leaving the Majestic now. I am going back to the life to which I belong, to earn my living again as I did before. I have had my gay time, and taken altogether it was [illegible] as gay as I intended it to be. But I am not complaining.

"I dare say you will soon forget me, Teddy. I hope you will. Will you try, if you can, to forgive me also, because I did not mean to hurt you. I meant just to have a good time with my own money. But it seems you have to be very careful, when you set out to make yourself happy, that you don't make somebody else unhappy.

"Jacqueline."

She sent her letter down to the inquiry office. Then she took a last look round the little sitting-room. She breathed a little sigh. She hated leaving it.

"Good-bye, little room," she said. And then, half closing her eyes as if in pain, she whispered, "Good-bye, Teddy—you dear!"

She picked up her little suitcase and walked slowly along the spacious, heavily carpeted landing. In a corner of the landing against a window stood an attenuated palm on a pedestal. Jacqueline unconsciously halted in front of it. It was the twin brother of the palm in her own sitting-room.

She looked around. There was nobody on the landing but herself. She took hold of the palm by its stem and lifted it easily and cleanly out of the pot.

And curled up at the bottom of the pot lay the necklace of 32 graduated diamonds with the star pendant!

Hardly knowing what she was doing, Jacqueline clawed it out, dirt and all, and hurried through the vestibule into the street, refusing the hall porter's urgent offer to call her a cab.

The mystery of the disappearing diamonds was now abundantly clear. One of the chamber-maids had changed the palm in her room with the one on than landing. And now, Jacqueline, very much to her dismay, had the thing once more in her possession.

To Be Continued.

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TODAY was The day, and all me and Jubilee could think of when we woke up this morning was that today was the day they were going to bring Annabelle Lee home again. When I laughed out loud he looked at me like he was wondering if I was crazy, and then pretty soon when I began wiping my eyes on the sheet he looked like he knew I was so I kicked him out of bed and got out and let him down by his rope. He can't monkey with me and get away with it. I was singing Old Black Joe when I was putting on my britches, and my father came to the stair door and asked me what was the matter. I told him I was singing and he said "Oh!" and went back to bed and when I went down and was taking out the ashes, I heard him and my mother laughing. When I had got the milking done and the horses was waiting outside whilst I fed my face my grandfather said, "All's well that ends well," and my aunt speared another egg and said, "Sometimes I think children are more trouble than they are worth," and I said, "Sometimes I think ants are," and my father gave me a hard look and started to get up but my mother started to get up too, so he sat down again. But my aunt was mad, and she said, "I can't bear children!" and my grandfather said, "Have you ever tried?" And she got mad and left the table and they all hollered. I don't see anything funny about that. But my grandfather kept chuckling like he was awful proud of himself.

I asked my mother if I might stay home and see them bring Annabelle Lee home, and my father butted in and said no, so I didn't. Younise and Maggie and Feebie had brung a lot of lilacs to take to the hospital, but my mother said it wouldn't be worth while, so they took them in the room where she is going to be and put them in water.

When school let out we all hurried home to see Annabelle Lee, but she hadn't come yet and the bed was all turned down for her and everything, and then she come riding in the ambulance and my mother was with her. I would like to get to ride in an ambulance. They brung her in and put her in bed and she laid there and didn't smile or cry or anything just laid looking around at all of us with her big eyes, and I turned a handspring to make her laugh and we all got run out, but she didn't laugh. After I was told to go to bed and had shut the stair door I sat on the stairs listening to see if she cried or anything till the whole house got still and I fell asleep. Then I woke up and went up and let Jubilee's rope down and we went to bed and I hugged him up tight and there was a lump in my throat that hurt me. Nobody cares what happens to me or how I feel.

Gas On Stomach Is Dangerous

Tells How To Stop It

Gas, Pain, Bloating and a feeling of fullness after eating are almost certain evidence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach.

Too much acid irritates the delicate stomach lining, frequently causing chronic Gastritis and dangerous Ulcers. Food ferments and sours, forming a gas that distends the stomach and often seriously affects the Heart.

It is genuine folly to neglect such a condition or to treat with artificial digestive aids that cannot neutralize the stomach acid. A better way is to get from any reliable drug store some Bisurated Magnesia (powder or tablets) and take a little in water after each meal. Bisurated Magnesia will stop the worst gas attack quickly and without embarrassment. Taken right after eating, it prevents formation of gas and acids so there is no soreness, bloating or pain. Pleasant and perfectly harmless to take—Bisurated Magnesia does give wonderful relief in nine out of ten cases. Ask your Doctor or Druggist. Try it today.—Adv.

The Travelers and Harry Underwood Discuss the Puzzle

MARY stared at me for a long minute, while she digested the theory I had just advanced that Philip Veritzen's message had been directed to Harry Underwood's [illegible] of the work [illegible] than [illegible]. Then she shook her curly head [illegible], while a skeptical [illegible] curled the corners of her mouth.

"No," she said. "The colors on that theory are not surface. He's not crazy, and only an insane person would doubt you or Mr. Underwood."

"I'm not so sure, Mary," I said decidedly, with the fervent hope that I had enough histrionic ability to make my words plausibly impressive. "I'm not at all sure that Mr. Veritzen is altogether sane. In fact I think he has shown distinct signs of monomania or, at least, egomania, more than once. He is a man who is apt to get any insane idea into his head and act upon it."

"I know!" Mary nodded her head vigorously. "That just proves what I've been saying. The only time he's acted crazy is when he's been making a balloon ascension over Noel not cottoning to Princess Olina, as he'd set his heart upon the match. He hasn't bothered himself about anything else that I've heard of, and I've been sticking around pretty close."

I loosened my grasp of her arms and motioned her to a seat opposite me before I spoke.

"My dear child," I said at last with purposeful loftiness, "you know nothing whatever of Philip Veritzen's professional affairs since you severed your connection with him."

Madge Declares a Truce

"Nice of you to dress it up that way," she said with nonchalance in which there was bitterness. "You mean when he kicked me out."

"Therefore," I went on, ignoring her interruption, "you have no reason for your assumption that his only insane ideas are those concerning his son's matrimonial plans. But there is Purnell with the tray," as a knock sounded upon the door. "Will you go, dear?"

I was glad to give her something to do, equally pleased to have a minute or two to pull myself together. When Purnell had deftly placed the tea things on a table and made his smiling, deferential exit, I spoke firmly:

"We're going to declare a truce," I said. "No discussion of unpleasant subjects over the tea things."

"That surely bars old Phil Veritzen, Esquire," Mary said stoutly. "He's about the most unpleasant subject I know just now."

"I think I agree with you, Mary," I told her smiling. "So we won't mention his name again until the Underwoods join us. And then I want you to be a good little girl and trot into your room while we older people go into a committee of ways and means."

"Just watch me trot," she retorted. "The way I feel now I'll go in and hide my head under the pillow until somebody comes to assure me they've put that man in a strait-jacket. There! You see I didn't mention his name. Will you have cream or lemon, Auntie Madge?"

"Lemon," I decided, and we proceeded to discuss our tea leisurely and enjoyably. I did not believe we should be interrupted, and, indeed, Purnell had been summoned back and had cleared the tea things away a good ten minutes before Harry's knock sounded on the door.

"Will you come over?" he said. "Lil isn't quite up to leaving her own fireside."

"Do you mind if I stay here?" Mary asked.

"Very much," Mr. Underwood replied promptly. "You needn't join our executive session if you don't want to, but no leaving you in the empty apartment at this juncture, if you don't mind. Bring along a book or some writing and choose any room you like save the living room."

"I don't want a book, thank you." Mary swept him a curtsey. "I crave sleep and lots of it. If nobody minds my taking a nap, that's my programme."

"Best thing you could do," Mr. Underwood agreed heartily, and, taking the key from my hand, he locked our door and escorted Mary and me through the door of his own apartment, which he had left ajar.

Lillian was sitting in front of the fire in a comfortable negligee, her head resting against the chair back, as if she were spent with weariness. That there had been tears, grateful ones I guessed, in the interview just concluded.

I knew, as I looked at her eyes, though she had so cleverly concealed their ravages that no one save a friend knowing her every mood and tense, as did I, could have guessed that she had been weeping. But there was something like the soft light of a candle on her face which told me that she had found the reassuring peace and happiness for which she longed in her husband's steadfast love.

"HEAVY DUTY" tells you what it is— but not how fine it looks!

When Goodyear puts the words "Heavy Duty" on the side-wall of a tire, everybody knows those words mean extra strength, extra service, extra wear.

But in its new Heavy Duty balloon, Goodyear now puts something more—an outward beauty quite as superior as its inner excellence.

This great new tire is ruggedly handsome, massively proportioned, and around either side-wall below its extra-thick and extra-safe All-Weather Tread runs a single identifying stripe of silver.

A striking feature is the way in which the outer rows of All-Weather blocks are prismed down into the side-walls, as fresh and unhackneyed a modeling as distinguishes modern sculpture.

Goodyear builds this new Heavy Duty balloon tire for those who want to drive fast and far without worry, and are willing to pay a little extra for that privilege.

If you want to dress up your car and soothe down your anxieties, go see the nearest Goodyear Dealer, and have him change over your tires to new Goodyear Heavy Duty balloons today!

Goodyear can give you greater tire values because Goodyear builds more than 1/4 of all the tires sold in America, the remainder being divided among some forty manufacturers. "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind."

ARREST POLICE HEAD AFTER COLLEGE RIOT

Philadelphia Safety Director Held for Refusal To Release Students from Custody.

[illegible] Press [illegible] May 1—[illegible] fused to recognize the [illegible] which he was held in bail on the ground that he was not present and finally he was released by Magistrate John J. O'Malley on his own recognizance for a hearing later today.

There was some confusion at the police station as the magistrate was attempting to send the director to jail. But the director won out by ordering the police to clear the place of all but policemen.

Police charged that the students acted in a riotous manner and destroyed property of storekeepers.

A short time before the disorders on the university campus began, the students had attended the annual [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] professors [illegible] the institution.

Different Versions

There are several versions as to the manner in which the melee started. A number of students said the affair began after a nervous policeman turned in a riot call when he saw a crowd collecting.

Thomas O. Ferguson, a junior, said a motorcycle policeman, who rode his motorcycle into a crowd of students, was to blame.

Hundreds of undergraduates and [illegible] of police joined in the clash near the campus shortly before midnight. The melee turned into an old-fashioned battle royal with police [illegible] into nearby stores, cafes and fraternity houses, arresting anyone [illegible] a student.

Among the prisoners were scores of youths who had been taken from their quarters clad only in pajamas.

Members of several fraternities refused to admit police and the doors to the houses were forced by axes, in some cases the locks were shot off.

"When I went into the station house," Director Schofield said later, "there were about 40 students milling around the police room. Somebody came in with a long list of names and asked for copies of the charge.

"At the time it was impossible for the police sergeant to issue copies since the men were not yet properly slated nor records completed. As a matter of fact, I understand that when the situation was explained, the request for the copies was withdrawn.

"Later on Magistrate O'Malley issued the warrant for me for obstructing justice. I submitted to arrest.

"As soon as W. H. DuBarry of the provost's office of the university arrived, I released the boys in his custody. They will have to return for a hearing.

"In my judgment, at the time Michael J. O'Malley and a student who accompanied him arrived at the station house to get copies, things were in such a precarious condition that I did not deem it advisable to let these boys back on the street."

KEEN and ALERT at "FOUR"!
the day's grind demands
men of unusual Vitality

"Oh! fine."

you want to feel the same way

BUSINESS today requires that the successful man be physically fit and mentally alert. Men, especially, forget themselves physically. Their work demands practically all their time. They do not exercise enough. They get little or no sunshine. They are robbed of a good appetite . . . and when their red-blood-cells fall below normal their flesh becomes flabby, their nerves unsteady. Their strength must be reinforced.

Soundness of body and peace of mind depend upon the proper number of red-cells in the blood—5,000,000 to the cubic millimeter. They give blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to every part of the body. It is dangerous to let the red-cell count remain below normal.

S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions who have taken advantage of its wonderful medicinal properties. It helps Nature build rich, red-blood-cells. It promotes healthy body building.

You will be pleased to know that S.S.S. is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs. It is easily assimilated. Pleasant to take.

is taken by many people at least once a year to keep their blood in good condition. Seek energy, vitality and the blessings of good health through this time-tested remedy which has been on the market over 100 years. Take at mealtime. S.S.S. is on sale at all good drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Two Big Improvements on Fire Department Program

City Will Employ Four Additional Firemen To Aid in Prevention of Property Damage by Water; New Alarm System Will Replace One Now in Use.

Two great forward strides in the efficiency of Marion fire department are on the 1930 schedule of the city, Fire Chief T. J. McFarland said today.

Linked with the installation last year of a new transmitting and recording device for fire calls these improvements will place the department on a new level of efficiency.

The first of the forward strides will be taken when four men are added to the personnel of Central fire station on Sept. 1, in accordance with requirements of the [illegible] bureau for this city to merit a fourth class rating.

Will Lessen Water Damage

These four men, armed with tarpaulins will do much to protect life and property from water damage at future fires, as well as augmenting the regular force in times of emergencies.

Chief McFarland hopes to see the recently adopted $25,000 improvement program completed late this fall as the second step in forward efforts. This program was made possible by the provision of city council for a $25,000 bond issue for fire department improvements.

The present four-circuit system of fire alarm boxes throughout the city, with a maximum of 79 boxes, will be increased to a 10 outside circuit system with a capacity of 200 boxes. Two additional circuits will insure proper connections between the present three stations and any future stations, whereas the stations now depend on the outside circuits for connections.

Laying of 12,000 feet of underground cable in the uptown sections is one of the major tasks facing the department, and which, when completed, will contribute greatly to the efficiency of the fire alarm system. Work will probably be started this summer on that task, which will require several months' time.

In addition to this difficult task, 10 miles of overhead lines must be built immediately to make connections for the new fire alarm system.

New Alarm Boxes

Inefficient and almost antique styles of fire alarm boxes, bought and installed in 1896, will be replaced with modern fool-proof boxes if present plans materialize.

With these major improvements practically assured, another comprehensive addition to the department is already on the horizon in the form of an East Side fire department. Need for a station in that section of the city to not only eliminate dangerous two-mile runs by departments but to augment protection of the business section, has been stressed for years. Two of the three present stations might easily be delayed by railroads in the event of a fire in the business section as each of the two must cross two railroad tracks to reach the business section, whereas an East Side department would not face this possible delay.

Council has been asked to make provision for such a station within a year.

CHISOX SURPRISE OF AMERICAN LEAGUE

SENATORS DEFEATED AFTER EIGHT WINS

Pipgras Hurls Faltering Yanks to Shutout Victory Over Washington.

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

A[illegible] the [illegible] Chicago White [illegible] Washington [illegible] eight [illegible] American League [illegible] season.

The White [illegible] into third place yesterday as the Detroit Tigers [illegible] the first inning [illegible] 4 to [illegible] but they still are among the [illegible] ing teams.

B[illegible] American League [illegible] has been a spare [illegible] of the team [illegible] after a few years of rather disappointing performances. He [illegible] pitted with Elon Hogsett, Detroit's big Indian hurler of sinker balls, [illegible] three of Chicago's 13 hits yesterday, but the rest of the box were not able to keep pace with him and produce the required runs.

Red Lucas of [illegible] and Sylvester Johnson of St. Louis [illegible] a fine duel with the Reds getting a 4 to 3 triumph on the strength of Joe Stripp's triple in the [illegible] inning. Neither pitcher gave a free ticket to first base.

The Chicago Cubs defeated Pittsburgh by [illegible] their former [illegible] Percy Jones for five runs [illegible] at a time, while Pat Malone held the Pirates to two counters.

Boston's Braves jumped past the Phillies and St. Louis into the first division by batting [illegible] Brandt to gain a 9 to [illegible] victory over Philadelphia.

MAY BREAK MARK

Northwestern Sophomore Pole Vaulter Has Eyes on World Record.

By The Associated Press

EVANSTON, Ill., May 1 — Tom Warne, Northwestern University's jumping jack, will make another assault on Sabin Carr's pole vault record at the Ohio Relays Saturday.

The Northwestern sophomore, who has been vaulting since he was in the seventh grade at Kokomo, Ind., came within a tiny fraction of topping the former Yale star's world mark of 14 feet one inch at the Drake games last Saturday and is confident of turning the trick Saturday or at least before the present season is ended.

But for an awkward arm, Warne would have cleared the bar at 14 feet two inches at Drake. He cleared the height easily but knocked the cross bar down with his arm in his descent. He won the Drake event with a leap of 13 feet 11 inches.

Warne has been above the 13 foot mark in every try during the current season.

CUBS TAKE DAY OFF

CHICAGO, May 1—After sixteen straight days of work, a record for the National spring season, the Champion Chicago Cubs finally drew a day off today. The vacation was a scheduled one to give their next opponents, the Philadelphia Nationals, travel time to Chicago.

Wolverines Eke Out 4-3 Win from Maroons

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 1—Chicago today was one of the four undefeated teams in the western conference baseball championship chase, but through no fault of Lefty Knowles, Chicago's sophomore lefthander.

Knowles yesterday held the 1928 and 1929 champions to four hits, but five errors by his mates assisted the Wolverines to a 4 to 3 victory.

The victory was Michigan's first in two starts, the opener having resulted in a 3-3 tie with Ohio State.

Illinois virtually wrecked Purdue's season, scoring a 12 to 1 victory to hand the Boilermakers their fourth straight setback.

WANTS TO BOOK GAMES

The Sandusky baseball representatives formerly known as the Hinde and Dauch team has been re-organized and will be known in the future as the [illegible]. They are now ready to arrange games for the season and would like to book games with some Class A teams. The manager is George Dahm, 1029 Hancock st., Sandusky, or call Main 2392W.

LEO ALEXANDER

The galloping Gorilla, so called, will take his place in the ring opposite the rough and tumble Dr. Ralph Wilson in the main go of the Friday night wrestling card. Leo Alexander, the boy who likes to treat 'em rough for a short time and then dump 'em on the mat for the decision may find that he has his hands full in the match with the physician, who is no playboy himself when he climbs into the squared circle. The match should not lack color as both of the principals are about as rough as they make them. Most anything is apt to happen before the final gong rings.

ON THE INSIDE

With

Bob Kirkpatrick

JUST now, it seems that the various [illegible] teams of the city are [illegible] to play at least one or two practice games each week to get in shape for the coming season which is destined to open May 12. Most of the team managers are like all the major league leaders preceding the actual opening. Even though they may not be strong enough to make the pennant chase a runaway they expect to be so well strengthened that the other teams will have to fight to keep them out of first position.

How many of the managers will be right is a matter of guesswork for everyone. However, it does seem that several of the teams who were well up in the race last season will again be fighting it out for the top rung this year. No actual statements will be made in this column at this time as to where we think any of the teams will stand when the final game rolls around. Within the next few days we expect to give each manager the opportunity to state what he thinks his team will do and just why he thinks the way he does.

FOR some reason or other several of the teams who have been playing practice games have failed to get [illegible] to this office for publication. Practice games do not count anything so far as season standings but they do help to acquaint the public with the various outfits who will play in the leagues. We'd like to [illegible] results of all the games [illegible] look more like a [illegible] baseball game in [illegible] before [illegible] morning.

So far as it is known the first city baseball series to be played this season will be the Epworth Juniors vs. Epworth No. 1 nines which will probably be played sometime next week. Last year the John Clark outfit finished in the highest position possible in the No. 1 Sunday school league while the Juniors were also in the first division but in about third or fourth place.

Jim [illegible], manager of the Juniors has made some changes in his lineup this year and thinks that he will go places in the league. The prime ambition of his team seems to be to beat the No. 1 nine. As for Manager Clark of the league champions he thinks that all he has to do to beat the Juniors is to have nine men on the field at the appointed time and place. Perhaps he will beat them but he won't make a track meet out of it if determination on the part of the Juniors mean anything. Time and place of the series, which will probably be of three games duration will be announced later.

THREE-BAGGER WINS

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, May 1—[illegible] by Jersey Joe Stripp, playing his first full game of the season Wednesday, earned the Reds a 4 to 3 decision over the Cardinals. Stripp tripled in the final inning and [illegible] Meusel with the winning run. Previously Stripp doubled in the fourth inning during which the Reds scored twice. Red Lucas won his first game of the year. He had perfect control. Sylvester Johnson, losing twirler, likewise did not pass a batter.

The Reds' first run came in the third inning on Gooch's triple and Lucas' drive to the flagpole. The home team scored twice in the next inning, when Heilmann reached first on a force out, a double by Stripp and Bottomley's muff of Gelbert's assist on Cuccinello's grounder. Two runners crossed the plate before Bottomley recovered the ball.

St. Louis scored in the third on a double by Johnson and a single by Douthit. Gelbert tripled in the fifth and scored on Johnson's single. Gabby Street's men tallied their final run in the eighth on singles by High, Bottomley and Fisher.

Stripp played first base in place of Kelly, who was injured on the foot two days ago by a foul drive from his own bat.

Heilmann had a busy day in the field with seven put outs and he gathered an assist in the eighth when Fisher was slow in getting back to the bag after singling.

Max Already Getting in Shape for Sharkey Fight

Aspiring German Heavyweight Has Been Training For Months in Homeland.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, May 1—[illegible] heavyweight [illegible] athlete will come down the gangplank on to American soil on Saturday when Max Schmeling returns to make his play for the world's heavyweight championship in the Sharkey fight on June 12.

This assurance was vouchsafed today by Walther Kleffel, one of Germany's outstanding authorities on sports, who has preceded Schmeling here for the purpose of making a national sports survey that ultimately will carry him as far west as the Olympic stadium at Los Angeles. Kleffel made two statements about Schmeling that are of particular interest at this time.

He said first that the boxer was far from popular in the fatherland and that so far [illegible] the greatest title within the gift of boxing had left the German populace unmoved. His second observation had to do with Schmeling's condition which he said was not only good but excellent. It seems that the Herr Schmeling has been in what might be termed temperate training ever since he returned to Germany last September.

The popular impression here had been that Schmeling having made his share of American gold and being persona non grata with the boxing authorities here, had been living the life of Sylvester [illegible], meantime getting culture and growing a paunch. Instead, according to Kleffel, he hasn't seen the inside of a Berlin Biergarten and his gymnasium work has averaged about three a week over a period of six months.

Schmeling No Waster

"You mistake the Herr Schmeling if you think him a waster," said Kleffel. "You mistake him very much if you don't see him as a very serious young man who deems himself to have a very serious mission in life, the winning of the heavyweight championship. Your Tunney was just such a man five years ago as Schmeling is today. He conceives himself to be a man of destiny and has no thought except for the welfare of his body. He doesn't drink beer. He doesn't smoke. He does nothing but live by the clock.

"I don't know whether he is to realize his ambition of whipping Sharkey but I do know this much. Th[illegible] perfectly conditioned athlete [illegible] enter the serious phases of his training for the fight with Sharkey."

About only one point was the Herr Kleffel unable to venture an opinion. This had to do with the estimated effect his protracted lay off would have on Schmeling's boxing.

Max Unpopular

He seemed to fear the worst. For one thing, he said that most of Schmeling's work had been confined to light exercises and bag punching. He has done little boxing, it seems, and some of this has even resulted to his personal disadvantage. Kleffel was referring to Schmeling's exhibitions in Berlin, Munich and other German cities.

It appears that these were the merest gestures, with Schmeling doing little hitting and his sparring partners none at all.

"This offended the people who paid to see him," the German explained. "They were particularly annoyed by the fact that he not only wore a head guard but a face mask into the ring, it being their belief that a fighter as good as Schmeling ought to be able to protect himself with his fists. The newspapers have been especially bitter in their attacks on him and all in all, he was far from a popular figure when I left."

It might be added that Schmeling can take consolation from the fact that Dempsey, Tunney, Willard and Johnson will attest that popularity can be [illegible] something a heavyweight champion doesn't get.

Griffiths Decisions Gagnon in 10-Rounder

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 1—Tuffy Griffiths [illegible] was back [illegible] list of contenders for the world's heavyweight boxing championship, the stain of a technical knockout defeat by Jack Gagnon removed from his record by a 10-round decision victory over the Boston sailor last night.

Before [illegible] spectators, most of whom went to the Chicago stadium hoping to learn that Gagnon's winning victory over Griffiths at Philadelphia early last month was a mistake. The tough one outboxed Gagnon most of the way. The right hand that sent Griffiths crashing to the canvas in Philadelphia did little damage although Gagnon kept him busy all evening.

It landed on Tuffy's chin in the eighth round but Gagnon couldn't get him even lined up for another shot. Griffiths' long left was in great working order and it kept Gagnon off balance from start to finish.

WHEAT PRICES JUMP UPWARD

Deliveries Prove Less Burdensome; Corn, Oats and Provisions Firmer.

[illegible] were only [illegible] [illegible] after [illegible] corn, oats, and provisions were likewise firmer, with [illegible] on, but subsequently receding somewhat.

Announcement today that deliveries of wheat in cars on railroad tracks here would be allowed, and that warehouse receipts would not be insisted upon, failed to disturb the upward course of wheat values. Ready absorption of tenders of wheat on May contracts formed more than a counterbalance. There were also indications of considerable new export business in North American wheat.

An additional factor tending to lift wheat values today was word that despite showers the Canadian crop may have [illegible] soaking rains to dispel fears about effects of inadequate moisture. A further stimulus to friends of higher prices was a report from India that large quantities of late sown wheat had been abandoned owing to drought and excessively hot weather.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

A large surplus of eggs has finally forced a two-cent drop, bringing the local market to a range of 25 to 28 cents a dozen. Although variations were predicted many times during the last few weeks, today's drop was the first price change, despite fluctuations in the egg supply.

Louisiana began contributing strawberries for local markets at 35 cents a quart today. The berries are reported to be fancy, many of them coming in pint baskets.
